

Email End-User Support

We can help make sure your users have the best possible online learning experience.

With TOPYX[®] learning management system (LMS), our staff of US-based customer support representatives can become a valuable extension of your learning department. We make it easy.

$9,500 / year

a year for outstanding email support

A dedicated email support team will be assigned to you. All users will have an easily accessible direct link to send email support requests:

- Save Money
No additional customer service needed to support your LMS
- Save Time
Focus on other important issues, not user support
- Get Expertise
Have an expert available to answer all questions

The email support teams operate Monday through Friday 8AM – 6PM EST.

Any emails sent before 4:30pm EST are guaranteed to be responded to the same day they were received.

We are here to help every step of the way! See all of the ways Email Support can help you by talking to a Business Development Representative today.
